Lawrence Women Present First Water Pageant In April

CAST OF 85 TO PARTICIPATE IN INITIAL EVENT

Miss McGurk Will Direct Coeds
In "Princess of the Evening
Star," at Gym

The first water pageant ever to be given at Lawrence College will be presented early in April at the new Alexander gymnasium. This pageant, "Princess of the Evening Star," written by Miss Ruth McGurk, instructed early in April at the new duce by the department of physical education for women, under the auspices of W.A.A.

Miss McGurk, who is spending her first year as a member of the Lawrence faculty, has directed successful pageants at Jamestown College, Jamestown, North Dakota, where she taught for two years before coming here. She also aided in the direction of May festivals while she was a student assistant at the University of North Dakota.

Select Chairmen

Chairmen of the committees which will assist in the production have been selected by W.A.A. board, and met yesterday to choose their co-workers. The production staff thus far includes: Betty Plowright, '32, and Ellen Lewis, '32, assistant directors; Dorothy Gough, '32, business manager, and the following committee heads: ticket sales, Betty Wiley, '31; properties, Dorothea Krause, '31; publicity, Verna Lauritzen, '31; costumes and make-up, Esther Schauer, '31.

"Princess of the Evening Star," an Indian story, calls for a cast of approximately 85 students, all women. There will be a meeting of all those who wish to try for parts at the women's gymnasium at 7 p.m. Wednesday. Character parts, group and solo dances, singing, swimming, and diving, are all included in the pageant. Miss McGurk urges college and conservatory women who are interested in any of these lines to be present at this meeting. Selection of the cast will be made within a few days, and rehearsals will begin next week.

Has Four Leads

There are four leads in the production: the Star Princess, who, in a strange way, comes to the Ojibways; Osseo, an Indian warrior, her lover; Manito the Mighty, chief of the Ojibways, and Mishe-Nahma, king of the Big-Sea-Water. The setting is in the forest of Manitouwah, by the Big-Sea-Water.

Effective costuming, dances, orchestral music and singing, pantomime, and novel swimming and diving events have been united in one theme, in an endeavor to produce a spectacle which will reflect the varied abilities of a large and talented cast. The pool at the new gymnasium is well fitted for a production of this nature, and the facilities for lighting are expected to add much to the beauty of the setting.

Kathryn Uglov Sings In
Convocation Last Friday

Miss Kathryn Uglov, '31, presented a vocal program during convocation period Friday morning. She sang "Time You Old Gipsy Man" by Besley, "Dawn" by Curran, and "Ecstasy" by Rummel. Miss Uglov sang "Roses of Picardy" for the encore. Mrs. Fullinwider accompanied on the piano.

Too Bad It Wasn't
A Game Of Hearts

Just another bridge game was holding the attention of four of the brethren at the Phi Kappa Tau fraternity house on North Union-st. Thursday night of last week. It was just another game all right, and it seemed to the players like a pretty dull one at that. Misdeals were occurring with regularity and hands in general were poor.

Then things began to happen. The cards were being dealt with what seemed to be an abundance of hearts going to Roy McNeil. He picked up six hearts in a row and thought nothing of it. Six more hearts and things looked mighty interesting. Yes, sir, that thirteenth card was a heart. A perfect hand, the kind that mathematicians have figured will appear once in something like a billion times.

Playing with McNeil were Herluf Bank, and opposite him were Harold Wurtz and Kenneth Pinkerton.

Debaters Active
During This WeekLawrence Teams Take Both Sides Against Carroll and Beloit Squads

Lawrence forensic activity saw go let down last week and will continue throughout this week with four debates, according to the schedule released by Prof. A. L. Franzke, coach.

William Morton and Edwin West opened this week's activity yesterday with two debates against a Beloit negative team in Jefferson. One meeting was held in the afternoon before the student body of Jefferson high school, and another in the evening before a Jefferson civic organization.

Lawrence teams will take both sides of three debates scheduled in Mayville, Hartford and Hartland on Wednesday, Thursday and Friday. The personnel of these teams has not yet been announced by Coach Franzke.

Meet Carroll

Last week Robert Law and William Morton met a Carroll negative team before Menasha high school, and Kenneth Johnson and Stanley Greene met a Carroll negative before Kaukauna high school. Morton and West also defended the affirmative side of the unemployment insurance question against a team from Northern State Teachers' College before the Candlelight club of Oshkosh, an organization of business and professional men.

Henry Connor and David Fulton met a Carroll affirmative team before the Parent Teachers' association of South Milwaukee last Thursday.

The Mayville debate tomorrow will be held before the high school student body, the Hartland debate will be before the Parent Teachers' association on Thursday, while in Hartland the two Lawrence teams will discuss the problem before the Hartland Commercial club Friday.

Hold Daily Rehearsals
For Spanish Play Feb. 24

Rehearsals for the Spanish play, "The Madness of Don Juan," which is to be presented at the Juegos Florales program Feb. 24, in Memorial chapel are being held daily. Through an error the name of Miss Beatrice Sibole was omitted from the list of characters printed in a previous Lawrence. Another number, a vocal solo sung in costume by Miss Gladys Shaeffer, has been added to the program.

COLLEGE GETS
$25,000 GIFT

To Be Used For Student Loan
Fund; Is Second Largest In School's History

In a will filed at Salem, Mass., Wednesday of last week, Lawrence College was endowed with $25,000 for the student loan fund by the late Mrs. Adeline Choate, widow of the late Leander Choate, former Oshkosh lumberman. Mrs. Choate died in Lynn, Mass., on Monday of last week. Dr. Henry M. Wriston, president of the college, was notified Thursday concerning the endowment for Lawrence.

This endowment, President Wriston declared, is the second largest received in the history of the college to be devoted to such a purpose. The only one which surpasses this in size is the Ormsby Foundation, the president said. With this $25,000 the student endowment fund is approximately $150,000.

More Loans This Year

"The endowment," the president said, "comes at a very convenient time, a time when every loan fund of the college is exhausted. Students are getting more funds this year than ever before and such a gift will be of untold value to Lawrence College."

As far as can be determined by the officials of the college, neither the late Mr. Choate nor the late Mrs. Choate had any connections with Lawrence College, the president said. It is impossible to find anyone here who ever knew the Choates.

By the terms of the will, President Wriston was informed, $100,000 has been left to institutions in Wisconsin, including the $25,000 gift to Lawrence. Other gifts are $25,000 to the city of Oshkosh, $25,000 to the Benevolent Society of the Congregational church, Oshkosh, and $25,000 to the Associated Charities of Oshkosh.

Irving Ozzanne
Dies Recently

Death Caused By Sudden Hemorrhage; In Sanitarium
Six Months

During the past six months, Irving Ozzanne, '26, had been at the State Sanitarium at Statesan, Wisconsin, where he had seemed to be making good progress until the occurrence of a sudden hemorrhage which caused his death on Feb. 9th.

Since his graduation from Lawrence College he had been taking graduate work in chemistry at the University of Illinois. He obtained his Master's Degree in 1927 and by April of last year had completed his research and was in the process of preparing his Ph.D. thesis when he was taken ill and forced to discontinue his work.

Given Honors

In recognition of his achievement in research, he was elected to Sigma Xi, honorary national scientific fraternity. The preliminary report of his research was published in the December 1930 issue of the Journal of the American Chemical Society.

Psi Chi Omega fraternity accompanied by Dr. G. C. Cast, Don James, '27, Earl Leader, '27, Forrest Muck, '27, and Dave Peterson, '27, attended the funeral services at the Methodist Church, Neenah, on Thursday, February 12, in the capacity of escorts.

PLAN LIBRARY
IMPROVEMENTS

More Stacks, Elevator, and New
Stairway Are Additions
To Building

Announcement of extensive improvements to be made to the Samuel Appleton library, Lawrence College, has been made by President Henry M. Wriston. The work will be done following the close of the college year in June.

According to present plans and available information, the college will add a fourth floor of stacks to the building, it will install an electric elevator, and will have constructed a new stairway leading from the library proper to the business offices on the second floor.

Definite plans have not been outlined and submitted to contractors, Dr. Wriston stated, but rather, contractors have been asked to submit their own plans for the proposed improvements to the building. Various plans have been submitted already, but nothing definite has been accepted.

Finance With Gifts

No set figure for the improvements has been made, but it will be held to a certain level. The financing of the project will be taken care of through gifts from numerous persons, the names of whom will not be divulged.

In discussing the improvements, President Wriston stated that with the addition of a fourth floor of stacks the capacity will be increased by at least 30 per cent. This will alleviate considerably the congestion now felt by the library in shelving its thousands of volumes.

Also, the president described as exceedingly dangerous, the present stairway connecting the main and second floors of the building. He said the new stairway will be differently placed and will be wider than the present one.

Dr. W. S. Learned Describes
Pennsylvania Study Given

A complete description of the Pennsylvania study conducted by the Carnegie Foundation in which Lawrence College sophomores participated last year, was given by Dr. W. S. Learned of the foundation before members of the Lawrence faculty in meeting Thursday afternoon.

In the Pennsylvania study, Dr. Learned told the faculty members, students are given tests in the seventh grade and these same students are followed through the remaining six grades of elementary training and through college in an endeavor to build up an accumulative record of these students.

Gives Purpose

The purpose of the study, the speaker said, is to determine what can be done to make the process of education more fruitful. He said the Carnegie Foundation also is endeavoring to determine whether the people of greatest ability are going to college and how they are treated after they get there.

He presented lantern slides in connection with his lecture.

Lawrence college sophomores participated in a Carnegie test last year.

Paging Lawrence
Poets; Contribute
Verse To "Ships"

"Ships are calling me to roam,
Ships are filling in the breeze;
Ships are beckoning me from home
To rove across the wind-tossed seas."

J. Collier Ford.

"Ships"—a magic word that suggests foreign ports, strange sights, crimson sunsets, and the storm-tossed waves of mid-ocean. "Ships," also meaning the fifth edition of a volume of Lawrence verse, edited by Theta Sigma Phi, national honorary journalistic sorority for women.

The first edition of Ships appeared in December, 1926. It differed from later volumes in that contributions were limited to literature; rather, only those poems were accepted which had already appeared in print elsewhere. At the 1927 convocation of Theta Sigma Phi the 1926 volume was rated as one of the best literary projects ever attempted by a chapter of that organization, and the Lawrence chapter was highly commended by the national sorority for having produced a publication of such literary merit.

In a few weeks the 1931 edition will set sail upon the sea of public approval. All students interesting in writing are urged to submit contributions of poetry, leaving them on Miss Olga Achtenhagen's desk in Room 5, Main hall, before March 10. Poems must be original and signed with the name of the author.

Anchor your thoughts to "Ships" and be on deck when there comes the call of "Ship Ahoy!"

Museum Receives
Relics Of Wiring

Electrical Equipment Installed
In Hamar House, 1884,
Given To College

The American History museum has been very fortunate in securing some of the equipment used in one of the original wiring jobs done in Appleton and one of the earliest in this section of the United States, Prof. J. B. MacHarg announced.

The switches and fuse boxes which compose the collection were taken out of what used to be the Silas Buck residence, and which was given to the college in 1926 by the Edward Hamars, Chassel, Michigan, in memory of their daughter, Olive Hamar. The building, now used by Lawrence women for club rooms, stands on the corner of College-ave. and South Union-st. The home was wired on July 11, 1884, and the same fixtures saw service until January 28 when the home was rewired.

Contract In 1882

Some time in August, 1882, a contract was signed by a group of Appleton investors with the newly organized Western Edison Light company, Chicago, for the construction and installation of two 120-volt Edison, K.O.C. dynamos to be driven by water power. Originally there were two dynamos, one in the beating room of the Appleton Pulp and Paper Company located where the Atlas Mill now stands and the other in the Vulcan Mill at the opposite end of the city, and eventually the two were combined. There were no instruments such as voltmeters and ammeters, no lighting protection whatsoever as the sockets and cut outs were made en-

MARQUETTE WINS

(Special) Baskets by King and Budrunas after Biggers had tied the score with three minutes to go with a pair of free throws gave Marquette its second win of the season from Lawrence in a thrilling contest 28 to 24. Biggers captured high scoring honors with nine points, followed by Budrunas with eight.

Marquette scored first but the Vikings ran up an 8 to 2 lead which dwindled to 11 to 9 advantage at the half. The second half was a wild nightmare which saw the lead changing hands repeatedly with Marquette getting the edge, at one time leading 23 to 18. With three minutes remaining Biggers sank two free throws to knot the count. But the Hilltoppers, breaking from a fast stalling game, went into the lead on King's long distance shot and made the win secure as Budrunas counted on a sleeper.

Following Biggers, the Vikes scored as follows: Pierce, 6; Laird, 4; Haase, 3; Fischl, 2.

Having acquired a hold on first place in the Big Four conference by virtue of their victory over Carroll last Saturday, Coach Denney's hoop artists will fight tonight with Beloit at Beloit to maintain their tie with the Pioneers. The downstaters have yet to win their initial Big Four game.

The Denneymen hold one win over the Jaggardmen, already having defeated the Beloit quint on the local hardwoods, 18 to 13, on January 9th. Since then the Vikings have rapidly improved and looked quite impressive in their victory over Carroll three nights ago. Beloit, on the other hand, emerged from their Iowa invasion last week on the small end of the count with Coe and Cornell.

Beat Monmouth

The Cedar Rapids quint tripped up Beloit's band 42 to 20 while Cornell made it a Corn State weekend by nosing out the Gold 25 to 22 Saturday evening. Beloit eked out a two point win from the Monmouth Scots for a Midwest triumph while the Vikings lost to the Illinois team by an eight point margin.

It is quite likely that Denney will use the same lineup against the Gold team as that which started the Carroll game, provided the blue and white men came through the Marquette tilt last night without injuries. Biggers and Haase will be at forwards, Laird at center, and Fischl and Pierce at guards.

The big guns in the Beloit attack will probably be co-captains Taylor and Bottino, and Heiss. The latter, a sophomore flash, has been turning in a brilliant performance at running guard and has an accurate eye. Frank Stipe, veteran pivot man, will jump center for Jaggard's five.

At the first meeting of the Organ club, composed of students of LaVahn Maesch, held at the Congregational church, Friday afternoon, the musical program was played by Gladys Michaelson, '33; and Francis Proctor, '31. Miss Michaelson played "March Russe" by Schimnke, and Mr. Proctor's numbers were: "Liebestod" from "Tristan and Isolde," by Wagner; "Silhouette" by McKinley; and "The Sportive Fauns," d'Antalfy.

PASSING COMMENT

SHIPS

Ships that pass in the night, that are swallowed up in darkness, carrying their precious cargoes of goods and lives to unknown ports, lost forever . . . a romantic picture that, a melancholy thought. Many of the world's poems are like that—ships that pass in the night and are lost forever, because they said right past the harbor and are swallowed up in oblivion. We cannot judge our own verse: it is too intimately a part of our lives, and we hesitate to hazard its costly freight of truth and feeling, fearing the shoals of criticism, of rejection, and even of derision.

Not so with Lawrence campus poetry; the entrance to the harbor is safer and precious cargoes need not be lost, for every year the local chapter of Theta Sigma Phi prepares a collection of Lawrence verse, which is printed in a little book entitled "Ships." The very word breathes the air of the sea, of high adventure—truly, a fitting atmosphere for any Viking project. The annual launching of "Ships" is indeed Norsemen, differing only in that the Norse knew little of their goal, while Theta Sigma has a destination well in mind.

MAY WE SUGGEST?

Meaning no offense, sir, we would like to come forward with a suggestion—an old one—one which some might be inclined to pronounce a dead issue on this campus of Lawrence College. Some, yes, but certainly not the members of the student body.

If you haven't already guessed it, this is another request for a prom, a request for a social event at Lawrence that will be worth remembering, one that will be worth talking about in the years to come. It is a request for a dance that will be more than an all college party.

Wisconsin has its prom; so does Marquette. Ripon its military ball, Beloit its Pan-Hell dance. Lawrence has two or three all college parties whereat those who attend dance to the music of a fifty or seventy-five dollar orchestra from 9 to 11:45, and then go home. just another dance. . . a "glorified frolic."

It is known quite definitely that early this spring one of the most famous dance bands now being booked by the Music Corporation of America is to tour this state on a barnstorming trip. On trips of this nature an orchestra which ordinarily books at a cost of from $1000 to $1500 per evening may be had at an unusually low cost.

A formal dance with an orchestra of the type to which we here refer would be a new and worth while project, and a distinctly successful one with the cooperation which we feel sure the fraternities on the campus would offer.

ENCOURAGEMENT

Again Professor F. Theodore Cloak gave Lawrence students something to talk about, remember, and to hold over other students who were so unfortunate as not to be present at the first annual all college vaudeville show in the Memorial chapel last Thursday night. We say 'annual' with assurance, for the evident pleasure derived from Thursday night's event will certainly lead to demands for repetition next year. One can safely say that Lawrence dramas have soared to a high plane since the advent of Mr. Cloak—his capable and inspiring directorship, his initiative, and his resourcefulness are appreciated by all Lawrentians.

However, one success demands another; and we therefore urge that all due cooperation and encouragement be given to the project now being undertaken by Miss Ruth McGurk. Her plan for a water pageant is novel to Lawrence campus, thus it requires the wholehearted assistance of everyone. A receptive state of mind to the idea is perhaps as important as anything; that backed by actual help, especially from the women, ought to assure its success with no one regretting it.

Talent And More Talent Is Revealed Under The Spots In First Vaudeville

F. Theodore Cloak, director of the Lawrence Theatre, gave the student body a vaudeville show Thursday night, and what a show it was! For two and a half hours Lawrentians saw talent, student talent, which was unbelievably arranged in gorgeous presentation, lacking only the finished polish of a professional performance.

What if the lighting system did go awry; what if the stage technicians did give an example of what goes on behind the scenes; or the usual crowd of naive fraternity brothers and hecklers did prevent the more serious minded from hearing well spoken lines, the show went on in admirable fashion.

Variety and More

Fourteen musicians in an orchestra that would do credit to many professional bands were given a beautiful setting by Wilbur Jackson, '33; a sketch of marital relationship in 1999; piano novelties; a dog causes more marital troubles; burnt cork covered a multitude of sins; an insipid group of non-descript creatures nonchalantly let the hotel burn; songs and masterful piano numbers; and then the band again—all in one evening's entertainment. And at that another one-act play was regrettably left out.

Credit for the band goes to John Paul Jones, '31, who bounced around in true master-of-ceremony style, and everybody sitting behind the novel decorations. The three girls, so billed, were Jane Cuppernull, '31, Edie Smith, '32, and Ruth Buckmaster, and they were excellent. It was these three songsters, headed by Miss Cuppernull, who sent a large audience home happy to the tune of "Trav'lin," their best number.

Dramas Get Laughs

The entire cast of "In 1999," secured by special arrangement with Samuel French, New York, deserves praise for their performance. Vera Vanderwolf, '32, as the fast stepping and domineering wife; Charles Peerenboom, '32, as the obedient sewing-circle husband; and Dorothy Edwards, '34, the third part of the "eternal triangle" of the future—all shared dramatic honors.

Ruth Krueger, and Lester Champion, conservatory students, presented a dual piano number medley of popular song hits under a pale blue spot; and "The Passing of Chow Chow," also secured by special arrangement, droned on humorously in the law office of Mr. Russell, alias William Morton, '31. The couple who fought over "dear little Chow Chow" were Dorothy Howell, '33, and Marcus Plant, '32.

Songs and Alarms

The "Gloomy Songsters" did their best to imitate Amos 'n Andy, the Two Black Crows, and other black faced comedians, but we would have preferred the piano player in the warmest of warm compositions.

The success of "The Still Alarm," by George Kaufman, (also arranged for by Samuel French) depended almost entirely upon the chief fireman, Paul Kozelka, '32, and he almost got away with it. It was a silly little sketch in which two pals visit in a hotel room on the eleventh floor while the hotel burns. The fireman, accompanied by an imitator of Nero, gets off a good conversation with the girl at the desk eleven stories down while the place still burns. In fact it was still burning as the lights flickered.

Danburg Thrills

Russell Danburg, '31, is always good, and Genevieve Kleivickis, '32, although nearly harried to death by the long wait, sang several songs well.

The band concluded with several tap dances to the tune of "Ida," and "After You've Gone," and finally "Trav'lin," with the Three Girls at their best.

All in all it was a good show, and an annual vaudeville is not impossible; in fact Mr. Cloak was highly pleased, and promises more.

Professor Frampton Has Stamp Article Printed

A lengthy article by Prof. John Ross Frampton of the Lawrence College Conservatory of Music on the eleven cent stamp of the current series has just been published in the American Philatelic. This magazine is the official publication of the American Philatelic Society with its membership of 4600 stamp collectors.

The article is an intensive study of the plates used in printing these stamps and of the date, qualities, and actual colors printed. This stamp has appeared in about 15 distinct colors—40 shades—ranging from a very deep blue to a milky blue and from a dark green to an apple green, although the post office department describes the color as light blue.

Fans are still talking about the Carroll-Lawrence fracas last Saturday night and they have good reason to. We feel the same way. The local cagers gave everything they had and the final count showed it.

The Pioneer players, however, failed by far to play the brand of ball that they are capable of playing. Don Hinckley, Waukesha leader, and his partner, VanderMuehlen, seemed to have lost all sight of the basket. The former connected twice for half of the Orange's field goals, but missed on other tries on which he is ordinarily dead. The close guarding of Laird made shooting by "Stretch" almost impossible and consequently the long blonde had only four free throws to his credit when the timer sounded the final bell.

Carroll's offense never seemed to get functioning. The Orange players booted, fumbled, and ran with the leather bundle like a bunch of eighth grade players. At times they showed flashes of offensive strength, but these resulted in little damage. Paul Fischl was no little factor in keeping Hinckley from maintaining his 17 points per game average. Paul rudely squelched the Pioneer captain on nearly every occasion and when he didn't block off his shots, he so rushed Hinckley that the latter's attempts were far from their mark.

Things looked rather dark for the blue and white last Wednesday when it was found out that Denney was in bed with a cold. The varsity mentor was on hand Saturday night, however, to direct his players and to receive the congratulations of many jubilant fans after the victorious match.

The Vikings still have a tough road ahead of them if they wish to stay in the deadlock with Carroll for Big Four honors. The local five must bowl over Beloit tonight and turn back Ripon next Tuesday night. Both Viking opponents have proven powerful on their own courts, especially the Ripon quint which boasts of two men, Johnson and Falconer, who are practically dead from out as far as the center mark. The Denney men will be seriously handicapped in working their plays because of the small gymnasiums of the other two colleges.

Rafoth, who went in for Willie Haase, when the latter was removed for having four personals chalked up against him, played a whale of a game in following up shots of his mates. The lanky chap scored three baskets during his first 12 minutes of play and gave indications of having more than mediocre success on the hardwoods next season.

Another player who deserves mention is "Beanie" Hall, who, although he only got in the last few minutes, is a player who is an asset to any cage team. His lack of height, however, has forced Denney to insert Haase in the lineup, but Hall is one of the fastest men on the team.

Lawrence Defense Kills Carroll Threats

SCORING ACES STOPPED WHILE VIKINGS COUNT

Smooth Working Combination Of Denney Men Is Too Much For Pioneers

By Austin Stegath

With a defense that completely bottled up Carroll's two high scoring artists, Don Hinckley and Stretch VanderMuehlen, Coach A. C. Denney's fast breaking varsity cagers had little difficulty in sending the Orange team back home with the short end of a 27 to 17 count last Saturday.

The victory was the first scored by the Vikings over a Waukesha quint since 1928 when the blue and white won a 20 to 17 engagement at the old Armory. However, in a second fray, the same season, Carroll rallied in an overtime period to cop a 39 to 27 tilt. Last year the Kenneymen won both games, the first by a wide margin, but the second by a lone point, 23 to 22, when a belated Viking offense was stopped by the final gun.

Shots Are Poor

The Denney men, without a doubt, had a "night on" and played almost flawless ball while the Pioneer players seemed stale and many of their shots fell far short of the backboard. Pierce and Fischl, Viking guards, smothered most of the scoring attempts of Clarkson and Hinckley, and Ken Laird held VanderMuehlen down without a goal, although the lanky blonde from Waukesha made good on four free throws. The latter player handled the ball in an easy going manner and was the key man in the Orange attack, but failure of his mates to locate the hoop rendered his clever passing useless.

Captain Don "Bill" Hinckley, one of the greatest basketball players to play on Big Four courts and co-holder of individual scoring honors in the loop at present, seemed to lack all drive; and his uncanny accuracy which brought him five field goals last year at Appleton seemed to have vanished completely. He dropped in two buckets and a pair of gift shots to lead his teammates' scoring column Saturday night.

Sophomores Score

Playing his first varsity game on the local court Haase, sophomore find, garnered high score honors with four goals and one free toss. He went out of the game after ten minutes of the second period with four personals against him. Benny Rafoth, another sophomore satellite, who replaced Haase and later took Laird's place when the latter was removed for his fourth foul, counted three times from the field for six points.

Lawrence took the lead at the start when Laird tallied on a field goal and was never headed. At half time, the Vikings led 8 to 6 counting on Laird's single goal, two by Haase, and a

Sig Eps 16, Betas 15 (overtime)
Phi Taus 18, D.I.'s 15
Thetas 16, Psi Chis 11

By Henry Connor

A solitary figure with a purple jersey stood on the free throw line with four small seconds left to play of the Beta-Sig Ep championship basketball game last Saturday; the score was 12 to 11 against the Sig Eps; the wild shrieking of the crowd ceased as the ball arched up and through the hoop, and then broke loose in a pandemonium of sound when the timer's whistle marked the close of the fourth quarter with the score tied at 12 and 12.

And then in the overtime period of five minutes, that same lanky figure in the purple jersey whistled through two goals from the field to pull the game from the fire for the Sig Eps and administer the Betas their first defeat of the year, 16 to 15 in a game as replete with thrills as a basketball encounter can possibly be. Trailing 6 to 0 after the first four minutes of play, the Sig Eps, led by the floor work of Campbell and two baskets by Phenecie and Stegath, tied the game at 6 and 6 at the half way point.

Lead Changes

In the last two quarters, and the five hectic minutes of overtime play, the lead changed hands six times, and only the cool work of Campbell at the free throw line in the closing seconds of play in regulation time kept the Sig Eps from going down to defeat. The Sig Eps led 9 to 7 at the close of the third frame, but two quick baskets by Dodge and a free toss by Jacobson soon changed the figures. Three free throws by Campbell were the only Sig Ep points in the last quarter, but they were enough to tie the battle at an even dozen and necessitate an overtime frame.

In the overtime Campbell crashed through with two goals in rapid succession to cut a Beta one point lead and win the tilt, 16 to 15.

Jacobson and Dodge led the Beta scoring with six points apiece, while Campbell and Phenecie took honors for the winners with seven and five points respectively. The win practically assures the Sig Eps of the Greek basketball title, for their only remaining game is with the Delta Sigs, present co-partners of the cellar with the Psi Chis.

Trounce D.I.'s

The Phi Taus climbed into undisputed fourth place Saturday by soundly trouncing the D.I. quint in a closely played contest, 18 to 15. By the defeat the Delta Iotas sank to within one game of the cellar, and have yet to play the Delta Sigs for the right to occupy that position in the final ratings. Flashing an improved offense in the first quarter, the D.I.'s built up a 7 to 6 lead, but some sensational shooting by Kemper in the second frame ran the count to 13 and 9 at the half for the Phi Taus. Four free tosses tied it up for the losers, but a final spurt clinched things for the Phi Taus in the last two minutes of play.

Theta Phi Wins

The Theta Phi, exhibiting practically the same lineup that won the championship for them last year, failed to click up to expectations, but were nevertheless good enough to vanquish the Psi Chis, 16 to 11. Leading 6 to 2 at the quarter, and 10 to 4 at the half time, the Thetas were in hot water on only one occasion—when the score was 10 to 8 mid-way in the third canto. Feind was again the star for the Psi Chis, gathering 7 points on three nice buckets and a gift shot. The Psi Chis made only one out of nine free throws, and the Thetas garnered only two out of six. Strange and Karsten led the winning attack.

Tigers And Lions Are Victorious On Little "4" Courts

The Little Four teams of the men's non-Greek league engaged in two interesting basketball games Wednesday night. In the first the Tigers nosed out the Bears by a score of 16 to 15. The game proved to be a hotly contested one at all times, and at the half the score was knotted at nine all. The second half proved to be just as close. However the work of Schroeder and Chlupp finally turned the tide and gave the game to the fighting Tigers. Norton starred for the losers, accounting for five of their points.

The second game between the Lions and Bulldogs likewise proved to be a thriller. The two teams ran neck to neck most of the way. At the half the score stood 10 to 9 in favor of the Bulldogs. The Lions, however, came back strong in the second period, and aided by the stellar shooting of Ritter and Dobbs, they were able to pull ahead. At the sound of the final whistle, the score stood 28 to 20 in their favor.

Vincent stated that, contrary to former plans, another round of games would be played. Next Wednesday the Lions will play the Bears, and the Bulldogs will meet the Tigers.

Vikings Drop To 3rd In Midwest

Cornell Is Half a Game Ahead of Lawrence; Carls' Slate Is Clear

MIDWEST STANDINGS

Ripon	2	3	.400
Beloit	2	4	.333
Coe	1	3	.250
Knott	0	5	.000

The Midwest standings shifted a bit over the week end, as Cornell's powerful quint added another win to climb into second place a game behind Carleton and half a game ahead of the Lawrence college Vikings. Beloit's hopes were given a decided jolt when the Jaggardmen ran on two reefs in as many nights against Coe and Cornell.

Coe climbed out of the cellar at the expense of Beloit on Friday evening, when a powerful second half drive swept them to their first Midwest win by a 42 to 20 score, and then Cornell nosed out Coach Jaggard's charges on Saturday night by a 25 to 22 count in a game that was replete with thrills.

Carleton staged one of the most surprising finishes a Ripon squad has ever seen to take a 45 to 26 win from the Redmen. Trailing 26 to 25 with ten minutes left to play, the Carls split the Ripon defense wide open to run up 20 points and hold the Redmen scoreless.

Play Fourteen Matches In Handball Tournament

The all campus handball singles tournament is underway. To date, fourteen of the first round matches have been played, and one second match has been disposed of. There is an unusually large number of entries this year, and the tournament is destined to attract a good deal of interest and attention before the last match is played. That interest is running high is evidenced by the competitive spirit of the participants, and the close scores of a majority of the matches.

The winners of the matches in the initial round are: Barnes, Rueben, Burgan, McDonald, Warzink, Hill, Calhoun, Lund, Collins, Roate, Best, Fish, R. Clark, and Ryan. Calhoun beat Lund in the only second round match played thus far.

FELLOWSHIP CLUB PLEDGES NEW MEN

The Lawrence College chapter of Oxford Fellowship announces the pledging of five new members, who have been received into the organization at recent meetings. They are Carl Bury, '32; Donald Herschleb, Gordon Nelson, Gerald Franz, all '33; and Lowell Reykdal, '34. In accordance with the new membership regulations adopted this year, students desiring to join the group are required to serve a pledgeship of one semester, after which they are initiated into full membership, providing that they have met the scholastic and other requirements.

The Oxford Fellowship has as its aim the development of Christian leadership and fellowship. The activities of the group include conducting religious services in churches within a radius of 50 or 60 miles, sponsoring of religious retreats, and meetings of the group at stated times. While some of the members are preparing for the Christian ministry as a life work, others are planning to give only part of their time to the work of the church by teaching in church schools and working in young people's groups.

charity toss each by Pierce and Haase. The Pioneers gathered in only one basket the first half when Ottery broke loose around Pierce for the lone two points. Hinckley, Vander-Muehlen, and Clarkson contributed the remaining tallies from the foul mark.

Pioneer Defense Breaks

The second half found Carroll completely routed and staging an unsuccessful uphill battle. The smooth working Vike offense ripped the Kenney defense wide open and left Haase and Rafoth open for easy pot shots. Hinckley and crew added three field goals to their total along with five free throws while Biggers and company bagged seven baskets and five gift tosses.
